Fullerton Thanks The Journal

Santa Ana Journal, Santa Ana, California. Neighbors:

Your Roch Bradshaw stories on Fullerton Parks are making us happy. Fullerton folks have found great satisfaction in the steady development of our park program and cannot help feeling a bit of a thrill when the neighbors discover what has been going on. We count our park investments as well worth while as any of the so-called "necessary" municipal expenditures. Not the least of the advantages coming from our park board's activity is the providing of a really worthwhile outlet for the labor of the local men now depending on public projects for a living.

Accept, please, our sincere thanks for the kindly notice you have taken of the work we have done, are doing, and certainly will continue to do in making Fullerton parks outstandingly attractive and useful to our own people and our always-welcome guests. Yours truly,

H. M. MAY, Secretary, Fullerton Chamber of Commerce.

Neumann Seeks Third Straight Day As Star Of Event

CLEVELAND, Sept. 2. (A)-Harold Nauemann, the Moline, Ill., air flash, sought his third straight day of stardom at the National Air races today as he joined nine other pilots in the Thompson trophy race, the world's speed classic for land planes.

Neumann, who thrilled the thousands of spectators yesterday winning the third and final lap of the Greve trophy race after taking the first two heats Saturday, said he would pilot Benny oward's "Mr. Mulligan" in the Thompson speed test.

"Mr. Mulligan" is the same plane Howard piloted to win the Los Angeles-to-Cleveland Bendix race Friday.

Turner in Race Col. Roscoe Turner, who came in second in the Bendix race, in an elapsed time of 231/2 seconds behind Howard, was expected to give Neuman a close contest. The Thompson race, outstanding event of the National Air races, is open to any type of airplane and is a free-for-all for men pilots. It will be over a distance of 150 miles in 10 laps over a 15-mile Qualifying speed is 225

California Oil Umpire to Speak Today; Winners Yesterday Told

HUNTINGTON BEACH. - All Orange county aided Huntington Beach in honoring discovery and development of oil in this district in the three-day "Black Gold Days" festival, which will end tonight with a public wedding and

Scheduled for this afternoon is a kiddies' parade on Main street, at 1:30 p. m.; welcome and introduction of visiting oil officials by Mayor T. B. Talbert and an address by J. R. Pemberton, oil umpire, at 2:30 p. m. At 3 p. m. a pageant, "A Trip Around the World," with 75 artists showing customs of many countries will be the feature. The public wedding, at which Miss Carol Shuman of The public wedding, Huntington Beach will become the bride of Harold Barnes of Huntington Park, will be held at 7:30 p. m. and will be followed by a grand ball in Memorial hall.

Long Parade Seen The "Wheels of Progress" parade, featuring progress of the oil industry, was this morning's outstanding event. More than 90 entries, forming a parade almost a mile in length, was pronounced the most unusual ever seen here.

Well-shooting apparatus, electric welding outfits, well-surveying trucks, tool-pusher's equipment, machine shop apparatus, delivery and diesel trucks and many other oil field devices were shown.

Prizes awarded for the Mardi Gras, held Saturday evening, were announced as follows: Most comical, Mrs. Minnie Higgins of Huntington Beach; best small girl's Lois Musolf of Huntington Beach; best man's costume, D. W. "Boxie" Huston and best woman's costume, Mrs. Jeanne Bowen, both of Wright confessed that he dug one of his tunnels in Hollywood to gain an underground entrance in to the basement of a drugstore from which he took $1200. He spent most of his time underground, living much in the fashion of the screen character created by the late Lon Chaney in "The Phantom of the Opera."

Police said the tunnel under the Watts bank had been abandoned for at least two or three years In it were found an acetylene torch, safe cracking tools, tanks and hose. The tunnel was discovered by carpenters tearing up a rotting floor. Officers crawled through the narrow passageway and came out across the street in a clump of brush in a vacant lot. The robber's equipment, mouldered with age, was brought to police

Watched Manager

Wright made his home in a tunnel under a grammar school. Connecting with this tunnel was another leading under a chain clothing store which police said he admitted robbing several times. They said Wright crawled on the skylight of the clothing store, watched the manager for several days and learned the combination of the vault before burrowing his tunnel and gaining entrance to the main floor through a trap door. surroundings, sometimes sleeping in gas vents, and his quarters infested with rats and termites. When he appeared in court he described himself as a transient. He pleaded for probation.

BARRIER OF CACTUS WINS DESERT FIGHT FOR SOVIET FARMS

TASHKENT, U.S.S.R., Sept. 2. (AP)—A 10-year battle against the Karyl-Kum desert, which was slowly expanding, engulfing villages and farms, has finally put the sands to retreat.

Fifty settlements and 5,000 acres of cultivated land were lost to the desert in five years preceding the battle. Now, through the planting of cacti barriers, this territory has been won back and with it 2,000 acres of the desert itself. With no interference, the wind ad swept the sand forward until irrigation ditches became clogged, crops were ruined and the farmers In 1925 a zone of defense was

Rows of cacti were planted and airplanes were used to sow "saksaul" plants. The barrier is being moved periodically outward and man now is invading the

Negro Given Four Months by Judge to 'Sleep It Off'

HOUSTON, Tex., Sept. 2. (A) -Thomas Barrett, 18, a negro, yawned as he slumped into a courtroom chair.

"You seem to be sleepy," said the judge. Barrett yawned again, then slept soundly, loudly in fact, while his mother testified he threatened her with a hatchet. He wakened long enough to deny everything, then went back to his snoring.

The judge gave him four months to sleep it off.

Radio Roundup TONIGHT'S PROGRAMS

By LANNY ROSS

Show Boat Singer TT USED to be that pinch-hitting was confined to baseball. Now it's getting so popular (or unpopular) that a radio singer has to pinch-hit for a radio columnist. I'll always consider that Homer Canfield owes me something and I may make him take my place on the radio next time I go on a vacation. That's a threat! Let's see, what'll I talk about? You've all heard so much about the big things in my life. In fact, probably too much. So, I'm going to take this opportunity to tell you about some of the little things which I think have been important too. Little things in my life that have made a big difference. Being fired from my first radio job. That only made me determined to succeed all the more. Being heard by my present sponsors at a time when I was struggling along on my second radio job as the "Troubadour of the Moon" on a midnight show . . . All of which led to my being signed as the tenor soloist on the new Show Boat program. If those sponsors hadn't tuned in, I might now be a hardworking young lawyer, trying to get along. I was thinking seriously of being one at the time. In fact,

I was doing right well as a student in the Columbia law school. Besides, radio was still rather young and I frankly didn't see its possibilities. Of course, the lucrative offer from the Show Boat changed that idea in a hurry.

If my family hadn't insisted upon developing my singing, things might have been a great deal different. It was they who encouraged me to attend the Juilliard School of Music. at a time when I was pretty well discouraged as a singer. However, things turned out for the best.

And I'm still attending that school, because I realize that I've just started on my career. There's still plenty for me to learn. And then, too, things might have been different if I'd gone to Amsterdam with the United States Olympic team in 1928, instead of touring Europe with the Yale Glee club. I had a chance, you know. It was after I had actually qualified for the team, in the 400-meter race, that I decided to pass no the opportunity. It was that trip with the glee club, that first encouraged me to follow singing as a profession.

Had I decided to continue to work for a London bank as a youth, things might has been quite different. So might they have been, if I had continued to work for that shipping company where I labored several months. Oh well, things are as they are. And there's nothing in particular that I would want to change now.

VACCINE FOR PARALYSIS SUCCESS

Not One of 7000 Who Used Serum Has Yet Been a Victim

NEW YORK, Sept. 2. (AP)-Between 6,000 and 7,000 persons in the United States have received the New York health department's new vaccine against infantile paralysis this year and not one of them has yet been reported a victim of the disease.

This season's infantile paralysis outbreak is about average for the country as a whole. It has been worse than average in a few areas, normal in many, better in others. The fact that reports of new cases have been mounting recently also is a normal sign. The peak of these summer outbreaks is due in about the third week of August. This year's peak has followed the

NEW ORLEANS STRIKEIS FORECAST

NEW YORK, Sept. 2. (P)—A general strike call of longshoremen at New Orleans tomorrow night "might reach the proportions of the recent Pacific coast tie-up," was forecast last night by Joseph P. Ryan, international president of the Longshoremen's association.

Ryan said he was awaiting word from President William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, as to whether the situation can be brought immediately before the national labor relations board.

The union is seeking a wage increase from 75 cents to 95 cents

Ryan said the present New Orleans agreement calling for a 75-cent wage was reached between the steamship companies and "10 white men and 10 Negroes," who formed the Independent Longshoremen's association.

Those 20 men don't represent ' he said. cents an hour. In Texas ports and at Lake Charles, La., it is 80 cents

MISS WYNYARD QUITS SCREEN

LONDON, Sept. 2. (P) — Diana Wynyard, pretty British star of "Cavalcade" and other Hollywood productions, is retiring permanently from the screen because she believes the camera cramps her acting abilities. "I don't intend to go back to Hollywood or to make more pic-tures anywhere," she said between acts of her "Sweet Aloes," which has made a long run here. "I do not photograph well in the first place, and in the second I have learned I am not happy living in

MASS MIGRATION OF CHILDREN TRIED AS RELIEF PLAN

LONDON, Sept. 2. (AP)-An experiment in mass migration is being undertaken by Britain's ministry of labor in an effort to find employment for 200,000 children. All of them within the past 12 months have reached the age of 14, when they no longer may attend free elementary schools. As their parents are unable to send in the unemployment ranks. A majority of the jobless children live in England's "distressed areas" - South Wales, Durham, Northumberland, Liverpool, Cumberland and parts of Scotland. The ministry's plan is to send them in large groups to the more prosper-ous midlands and south country.

THE MAN WHO WORKS

ONG before the machine age, and the dole, Daniel Webster said:

"Labor is one of the great elements of society—the great substantial interest on which we all stand. Not feudal service, or predial toil, or the irksome drudgery of one race of mankind subjected, on account of their color, to another; but labor, intelligent, manly, independent, thinking and acting for itself, earning its own wages, accumulating those wages into capital, educating childhood, maintaining worship, claiming the right of the elective franchise, and helping to uphold the great fabric of the state-that is American labor; and all my sympathies are with it, and my voice till I am dumb, will be for it."

Right away somebody says:

"Yes, that was before the machine age, to be surewhen labor had a chance.'

And right away we say:

Webster was correct in his views then and were he living today, he doubtless would reiterate his assertion. For never was there grander opportunity for labor to assert itself in an intelligent, manly fashion than there is today, Monday, Sept. 2, 1935, the day the nation has set aside to honor the man who toils.

Thinking, earning, accumulating, worshiping, voting, upholding "the great fabric of the state,"—such is labor's opportunity; such is the way out of our chaos; such is the only certain road to a life of happiness. The machine age is but a stepping stone to success in another occupation for the man who has the will to do.

Honest, intelligent labor does not ask to be coddled. It is no weakling. It will make its own way and America looks to it to restore us to a nation of independence and resourceful industry.

This is indeed a fitting year to honor the man who works.

BRITISH DIPLOMACY

LIAILE SELASSIE'S coup in granting a concession amounting to half the Ethiopian empire to the Standard Oil has the world still wondering and muttering. History records few more spectacular incidents—a nation willing to sacrifice its birthright to one power to save itself from being crushed by another.

Who the actual beneficiary is, only time will tell. Who inspired it is perhaps the most interesting unanswered question. The deal was negotiated by a British promoter, Francis M. Rickett. But Great Britain hastens to tell the world it had nothing to do with it and advises Selassie, after the bargain has been signed, sealed and delivered, to withhold the grant.

We would not be so bold as to accuse Great Britain of bad faith but-British diplomacy is British diplomacy, and in more than one instance has astounded the world with its shrewd and unexpected moves. Britain did not become mistress of the seas through any ordinary efforts.

EAST AND WEST

WESTERNERS, returning from summer trips to the East, report two impressions: The comparative cleanliness of western cities; the general lack of courtesy in eastern metropoli.

A good many of us have never been out of the West, and so we don't realize how dirty some cities are, and how overcrowding and the bitter battle for existence makes

Hard times or good times, life is easier in the West; less machine - made and machine - governed. Convention doesn't mean so much; people are not judged altogether by the amount of money they have; society mixes more freely; there is an absence of caste-lines.

Our cities are cleaner partly because of the wholesale use of electric power and gas-but partly because we like to be clean and to be surrounded by clean things. We're that sort of people.

As the West grows older and more industrialized, the danger will be that it may assume eastern habits. We ought to be on guard against slums, and dirt, and overindustrialization. It's a lot cheaper and easier to keep the West as it is, than to let it go and then have to spend millions undoing the damage.

THE EXCEPTIONAL CHILD

DROFESSOR NOEL KEYES of the University of Cali-I fornia complains because this state's public schools do so little for the exceptionally bright child. We employ 10 extra teachers for the mentally defective to every one for pupils of exceptional ability.

Bright-minded children are as numerous as the feebleminded and infinitely more important to society, Professor

The question is what to do about it. Many progressive cities have tried so-called "genius" schools with very little success. Children singled out for such a school tend to become self-conscious and conceited, and present a problem to their families when there are brothers or sisters who are branded by contrast as dumb. This has happened even when the brighter children have been kept in grades corresponding to the age groups, with the school curriculum not advanced but "enriched" by extra subjects to keep them fully occupied.

There is another problem that would not plague the school authorities if the home could be depended upon to be what it should be. Wise parents will know how to guide exceptionally bright children to make good use of energies left over from school. For others, the answer might lie in an elective system of extra subjects open to children who prove that they can master the regular course without using all their available time. Such a system already exists in the colleges and might be extended to the lower grades.

They have revived the writing simplicities of Eugene Wood by republishing his vignettes of back home and the folk there. Wood, a Chicago newspaperman, was first to recapture the charm of the small town and its people in that hooted era that became The Gay 90's. His studies of village life had quite a vogue. He was the father of Peggy Wood, the talented actress, who has written a sympathetic foreword to the volume. Wood's humor had no taint of modern wisecracking. It was sly, philosophic wit, the reflective sort that lingers.
